REFRIGERATION

Refrigerated Units

With over 10 years experience in this region, our formula for fabrication of refrigerated units is based maintaining the required temperature at all time. By only using the best possible insulation material and refrigerated devices, taken into account the shear heat in UAE and the importance of maintaining the required temperature, we have gathered a consortium of companies that ONLY use us for their food transportation requirements. We understand our clients and the importance of transportation of food, medicine so all manufacturing and fabrication are with these considered.
